Mill theatre project will bring arts and activities to Bicester

By Samantha McGregor

BANBURY'S Mill Theatre is set to launch a year-long project to bring arts and performances to Bicester.

Starting in June, The Mill plans to bring the best from its regular programme to Bicester, culminating in a circus spectacular in summer

It hopes the project will enable the theatre to "engage with new communities in one of the fastest growing towns in Europe".

The project has been funded by grants from Arts Council England and The Foyle Foundation, and is supported by Cherwell District Council.

The scheme will also create a new project co-ordinator role to help deliver the programme.

The Mill Arts Centre director Georgia Geary said: "This project is a huge opportunity for us to bring high quality, contemporary performances and activities to Bicester – a thriving town that has no dedicated arts provision.

"Part of our mission at The Mill is to engage with communities and ensure the arts are accessible to all, and we see the whole of Cherwell district as our community, not just Banbury.

"I'm delighted at the calibre of artists that we've already managed to attract to the project, and look forward to announcing more over the course of the next few months."

The Mill is launching a project to take arts to a wider community

Business Brethertons Solicitors is due to host an event at its Bicester offices to showcase the project.

Among the activities planned for The Mill Bicester is monthly Little Stories and Creative Crafts, as well as one-off performances.

Already confirmed to take part in the project is Wriggle Dance Theatre, award-winning performance poet Luke Wright, and the Remarkable Dance Company, which is made up of over 50's, and will be recruiting more members in Bicester.

The Mill will also be setting up a local box office in town.

The finale for the project will be a residency in the town for Mimbre, an all-female contemporary circus company who recently toured with award-winning act Exploded Circus.

As well as bringing their new production to town, Mimbre will deliver workshops for young people.

Cllr Kieron Mallon of Cherwell District Council and Banbury Mayor, Cllr Colin Clarke admire the 1949 MG TC car driven by John Lomas and Dan Hunter, of Blue Diamond Riley Services

BANBURY residents have been given a sneak preview of what to expect when the Monte Carlo Rally passes through the town next

John Lomas and Dan Hunter, of Bicester based Blue Diamond Riley Services, presented their 1949 MG TC car to Cllr Kieron Mallon of Cherwell District Council and Banbury Mayor, Cllr Colin Clarke.

The pair will set off from Paisley near Glasgow on January 31, with the 1,500-mile Classique aspect of the Rallye Monte Carlo Historique and Classique rally, stopping at an official passage control in Banbury on February 1 before finishing in Monte Carlo three days later.

Mr Lomas said: "This is a fantastic event and a great opportunity to promote vintage cars to the community and enthuse the younger generation."

Cllr Mallon said: "This is a momentous occasion for Banbury and I would encourage everyone to make a conscious effort to come along and be part of this historic event. The Monte Carlo Rallye attracts worldwide attention so we are proud to literally put Banbury on the map."

More than 100 classic and vintage cars will be on show in Bridge Street and Market Place on February 1 between 10am and 3.30pm.

Guardian Tackling burglaries and drugs are main priorities for police

By Owen Hughes

POLICE are targetting a crackdown on burglaries and "the gig economy for drugs" in Oxfordshire as their priorities this year.

Local Police Area Commanders from Thames Valley Police have allocated resources to prioritise residential burglaries, drug peddling and child exploitation in the county.

Police forces and councils in London and Birmingham will work with Thames Valley Police to track children as young as 12 who are caught up in organised drug rings.

LPA Commander for South and Vale, Rory Freeman, said burglaries are "what keep us awake at night", but not all break-ins are by people looking to steal personal belongings.

A modern method of drug dealing known as 'going country' means dealers are breaking into empty homes in rural areas using them as a base to sell narcotics from before moving on days later.

Superintendent Joe Kidman from Oxford LPA said: "Twenty years ago a drug dealer would hang about in one place waiting for people to approach them.

"The modern approach to drug dealing is via phone lines that are known to a large number of users.

"I would characterise it as similar to a gig economy for drugs.

"It allows the opportunity for more people to get involved and to recruit easily because that process allows people to take on discreet roles within it."

26 ST. MODWEN

Thames Valley Police have arrested 89 people, seized £31,000 worth of drugs, and criminals have been sentenced to a total of 26 years in prison for drug related offences since April last year.

Supt Freeman said: "Sitting beneath those hard facts is that they have safeguarded adults who have had their homes taken over on 31 occasions."

He added that a total of 27 children "often from broken homes" have also been safeguarded as a result of police intervention.

Addressing burglaries, Supt Kidman said: "Neighbours have been really important in reporting suspicious incidents.

"Good neighbours beat burglars is my very simple message."

Residents are urged to sign up for TVP alerts, ensure windows and doors are locked, and make empty homes look occupied by leaving lights on or asking neighbours if they could park their car on your driveway.

Nikky Dumbleton oversees the emergency call handlers and radio operators in the control room at Abingdon

18,000 pocket dials to emergency centre

LOST parrots and stranded cats are just some of the hundreds of thousands of issues that emergency call handlers in Abingdon have to deal with.

Staff at Abingdon Police Station's control room received 304,000 calls to the emergency 999 number in 2017, a 12% increase on the previous year.

Nikky Dumbleton, operations manager, said: "We're working on how to reduce that demand by better signposting the public to the right locations for their calls.

"When you speak to most of our staff, it's a dynamic job, there's lots of variety. These guys will regularly go above and beyond what we'd expect them to do."

There were 8,000 calls reporting abandoned vehicles and more than 15,000 calls about parking issues, both of which are the responsibility of local councils along with noise nuisance complaints.

More than 18,000 calls were 'butt dials' from people who forgot to lock their phone before putting it in their pocket or bag.

Handlers can be occupied for up to five minutes at a time as they try to call their phantom callers back, or track down alternative numbers to reach the caller, to make sure they are safe.

Non-emergency calls can be reported to 101 or online at reportonline.thamesvalley. police.uk.

Help find missing 16-year-old girl POLICE are appealing to the public for help finding a teenager is British/Fijian. Linda Finau, 16, pictured, from from Bicester who has been missing for nearly three weeks. Ambrosden, has been missing since Friday January 5. Roselyn Roqara, Linda's mother, issued a direct appeal to her daughter through a Thames Valley Police statement.

She said: "Hi Lewa, please, wherever you are, come home. "We love and miss you."

A CCTV image, captured on Saturday January 13 between 9.15am and midday, shows Linda carrying a large pink bag in a McDonalds restaurant in Queen Street, Nuneaton in Warwickshire.

It is believed she caught a train to London from Nuneaton later that day.

The teenager also has connections to Banbury, Coventry and Hartshill in Warwickshire.

Linda is described as 5ft 7ins tall, slim, has long blonde hair with dark brown/black roots and PC Sally Yates, based at Banbury, said: "I would like to speak to anyone who has seen or had any contact with Linda.

"We are concerned for her welfare due to her age and the length of time she has been missing.

"I would like to directly appeal to Linda if you see this appeal please contact police immediately so that we can check you are safe and well."

Help activate Madley Park

CAMPAIGNERS raising money for new play areas in Witney are asking residents to help with a much-needed cash boost.

Members of the Activate:Madley Park project are asking for people's votes to have a chance at bagging up to £4,000 through a token scheme in Tesco stores.

Shoppers can now vote for one of three projects in the Bags of Help initiative in the four Witney Tesco stores, the A40 Express store and two stores in Kidlington, from now until the end of February.

This is to help the group raise more than £100,000 so work on two new fun and inclusive play areas on Madley Park can begin later this year.

Katherine Quigley, Madley Park resident and fundraising volunteer said: "This is a quick and easy way for the people of Witney to get involved in raising funds for our project. Just ask for a blue token as you check out at any local Tesco store and vote for Madley Park Residents' Association. If we were lucky enough to get the top award it would provide a fantastic boost to our fundraising efforts."

The project will feature a play area for under 12s and will replace the outdated Cedar Drive Park.

The project will also create a new area on the playing fields dedicated to older children.

Share views on canalside plan

By Samantha McGregor

GOT an opinion about the future redevelopment of Banbury's canalside? Now's your chance to have your say.

Cherwell District Council has launched a consultation to help shape how the area can be regenerated.

People are being asked to complete a survey and the results will be used as a basis for the forthcoming Banbury Canalside Supplementary Planning Document (SPD).

The document will help guide how canalside should be redeveloped alongside Cherwell's Local Plan and the Banbury Vision and Masterplan.

The survey focuses on land between the railway station and the town centre and asks people to have their say on public green spaces, housing, biodiversity and new bridges over the river and canal.

There are also questions about the type of businesses that should be included at the site, such as shops, cafes, bars and nightclubs, as well as whether the railway station should be rebuilt.

Cllr Colin Clarke, Cherwell's lead member for planning, said: "Across Banbury we are making progress on our long-term aspirations for the regeneration and development of key sites.

"It's essential that as changes to the canalside area come forward, they reflect a joined-up approach that provides for the needs of residents, businesses and visitors alike.

"That's why it's so important to listen to what people have to say about proposals for the site and to get this Supplementary Planning Document adopted for use in the planning process.

"There are many exciting changes expected on the canalside site, but there are still lots of important decisions to be made about how these are brought forward.

"The consultation is an excellent opportunity for landowners and businesses on the site to have their

Last year, the council bought the former Antelope car dealership site, opposite Morrisons supermarket in Swan Close Road, for £2.15m.

Cherwell said its longer-term plan for the canalside is to redevelop it for homes, commercial and retail units.

The current consultation runs until Wednesday, 28 February. Once the planning document has been produced, which is expected later this year, a further public consultation will take place.

Post office robbery

STAFF at a village post office were threatened with a knife during a robbery.

The robbery happened at the Minster Lovell Post Office between 9am and 9.30am on Friday.

County councillor Liam Walker, who represents the area, said that he had spoken with the owner and confirmed no one had been hurt and that a 'sum of money' was stolen.

He added the incident was "shocking and not something that usually happens in our area".

Police are appealing for help tracing a man aged between 18 and 25 who may have information about the crime.

He was seen wearing a blue parka jacket with fur around the hood at the bus stop on Brize Norton Road before the robbery.

Arrests over deaths

THREE men have been arrested on suspicion of murder of two elderly residents, one who is understood to be a former Bicester head teacher.

It comes after the deaths, 18 months apart, of two Maids Moreton residents, Peter Farguhar, 69, who died on October 26, 2015, and Ann Moore-Martin, 83, who died on May 12 last year.

It is understood Ms Moore-Martin is a former head teacher at St Mary's School.

A 22-year-old man from Milton Keynes has since been released under investigation; a 27-year-old man from Towcester, and a 31-yearold man from Cornwall, have been released on bail until February 13.

£2,300 fine for cigarettes sold to boy aged 17

A KIDLINGTON shop has been fined thousands of pounds for selling cigarettes to a minor just months after being caught red handed selling lager to an underage teenager.

Owner Soran Salih, 33, and manager Erfan Gharib, 34, who run Wisla Supermarket in The Parade, pleaded guilty at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Tuesday to selling cigarettes to the 17-year-old.

The pair were fined a total of £2,385 for selling a packet of Berkley Blue to the underage buyer during an Oxfordshire County Council Trading Standards sting on April 10.

The teen buying the cigarettes asked for "the cheapest" and did not have to provide proof of their age during the transaction.

Mr Gharib received advice from Trading Standards on selling agerestricted items just five days earlier.

In February 2017, staff at the shop were caught out selling cans of Budweiser to a 15-year-old boy.

Councillor Judith Heathcoat, Cabinet Member for Trading Standards said: "Retailers have an important role to play in helping to stop the next generation of smokers from starting in the first place.

"Most take their responsibilities very seriously. We will not tolerate any retailers selling cigarettes or other age-restricted products to children."

A RECORD-breaking number of people turned out for the first Sunday Scramble of the year.

Bicester Heritage said hundreds of classic car enthusiasts passed through the gates in Buckingham Road, Bicester, making it the most popular January Scramble ever.

Among the spread of vintage, modern and modern classic cars at the former RAF Bomber Command training base were everything from original Austin 7s to the latest Ferrari 812 Superfast.

More than 1,000 cars lined up across the 348-acre former base, which dates back to the First World War and includes all the original buildings and workshops – many of which have been restored.

Bicester Heritage, a business centre for classic car and aviation firms, was founded in 2013 and is home to 30 specialist businesses.

New firm Sports Purpose drew huge crowds on the day with a display that included the Leyton House CG901B.

The car was produced for the 1990 Formula One World

Championship and built in nearby Telford Road.

While at Historit, the on-site car storage company's workshop, the 1979 Williams FW07 Alan Jones Formula One was on show and "performed ear-splitting start-ups".

And the new, onsite microbrewery, The Wriggly Monkey Brewery, served up its first prototype beer 'Sanction A' to the Scramble crowds.

Funding to help sports stars reach their goals

By George Welch

TALENTED sportsmen and women from west Oxfordshire are being invited to apply for a share of a grant funding pot to help young sporting stars realise their dreams.

The 2018 West Oxfordshire Sports Awards have been launched and nominations are being sought for the best coaches, clubs and unsung heroes in the district.

The awards are run by the council and GLL Sport Foundation, which also gives gifted local athletes the chance to apply for funding to help with costs such as training.

Grants of £50 to £1,250 can be applied for by athletes participating at county level or above and successful applicants will also receive free access to council-owned leisure facilities to aid training.

Last year, 39 individuals and organisations were honoured for their achievements, including Oxford United and England Under-17 football international Lucy Thomas.

Lucy, 16, from Standlake, said: "The award is a great boost to my confidence and assists with some of the considerable costs that my family encounters around my sporting life – subscriptions, travel, boots and equipment.

"Membership of my local gym also provides me with the opportunity to further develop my strength and conditioning at times which more easily fit around my school work and training/playing commitments."

Grants have also helped the development of national 50m and 100m breastroke swimming champion Callum Smart, also 16, from Charlbury.

The cash assisted the Olympic hopeful in paying for kit and expenses.

Cabinet member for leisure and health at WODC, Councillor Jeanette Baker said she is 'continually amazed' by the 'inspirational' sporting talent in the district.

She said: "These clubs and individuals deserve as much recognition as possible and I am delighted we can play a part in that through the awards."

The categories are: sports coach of the year, sports club of the year and unsung hero.

Disappointment at court closure plan

By Samantha McGregor

OPPOSITION is mounting after plans to close Banbury Magistrates' and County Court were unveiled.

The Ministry of Justice has launched a 10-week consultation over proposals to close courts in Banbury and Maidenhead.

It says work from both courts can be relocated to other sites "within a reasonable travelling distance".

It comes after Bicester Magistrates' Court and 85 other courts closed in 2017 as part of wide-sweeping reforms to improve efficiency and save money.

There are currently magistrates' courts in Banbury, High Wycombe, Maidenhead, Milton Keynes, Oxford, Reading and Slough.

were under-used and there was "sufficient capacity" at courts in Oxford - about 30-miles away - to deal with cases currently heard in Banbury.

Figures showed both Banbury courts sat for 2,211 hours out of a possible 3,810 available hours in 2016/17, while in the same period Oxford Magistrates' Court sat for 5,411 hours out of a possible 6,595 available hours; and Oxford Combined Court sat for 8,747 hours out of a possible 14,615 available

The report also said it costs £180,000 to run Banbury court, but the building needed work done to bring it to the "required standard".

If approved, both buildings would be sold and proceeds reinvested into the court system, the report said.

Sean Woodcock, Banbury An MoJ report said the courts Labour group leader, said: "I am very worried and disappointed by these proposals which I will be opposing strongly.

"My experience of the courts in Oxford is that they themselves are already overstretched.

"I am not convinced that there is the capacity there to deal with the extra work caused by closing the courts in Banbury."

Banbury Town Council leader Kieron Mallon said: "Personally, I am against losing such facilities in a town the size of Banbury - 45,000 population and growing rapidly."

In a statement Cherwell District Council said the proposal "flies in the face" of its plans for the district's growth.

"Increasing the pressure on Oxford Magistrates' Court will incur further costs and delays to those seeking justice and we question whether that court has the capacity to deal with the proposed changes."

Help to settle in for asylum-seeking children

A BOOST of £335,000 will help support asylum-seeking children who are living in Oxfordshire unaccompanied.

The county council has been awarded a government grant as part of a wider national funding programme of £29million.

The money will not cover the cost of care placements themselves, but will go towards helping unaccompanied asylumseeking children (UASCs) adjust to living in the country and integrate with communities.

The council's cabinet member for children and families Steve Harrod said: "Like many other parts of the country, Oxfordshire has seen a rise in the number of UASCs arriving in the last couple of years. It's vital that we can continue to ensure we are responding effectively to this challenge, and are able to provide the support these vulnerable young people need to thrive."

The council currently looks after 52 UASCs, who have predominantly travelled from Afghanistan, Albania and Eritrea.

The money will help pay for training of professionals who work across services with children, to improve understanding of the needs of the asylum-seekers, and to help support schools and colleges for successful transition into education.

Dialysis unit re-opens at hospital after black alert

By Samantha McGregor

A TEMPORARY kidney dialysis ward has opened at Banbury's hospital after the unit was requisitioned to help cope with bed shortages in A&E.

The six-bed renal dialysis unit at the Horton General Hospital closed at the beginning of January to make way for a temporary ward after Oxfordshire Hospitals NHS Trust raised its status to 'black alert' due to extreme pressures on A&E services.

More general hospital beds were needed across the county due to seasonally high attendance at A&E, bed blocking and an outbreak of flu.

Now, the former F ward at the Oxford Road hospital has been transformed into a temporary renal dialysis unit operating six days a week.

While the Banbury renal site was closed, dialysis patients from north Oxfordshire had to travel to Oxford or other areas for their treatment.

Oxfordshire Hospitals NHS Trust said is was "enormously grateful" to patients for their "understanding".

Temporary facilities and equipment are now in place and patients were able to return last week.

Allie Thornley, matron and clinical lead for renal medicine, said staff visited last Sunday to move medicines and ensure everything was ready for Monday morning.

She said: "It will be welcome news for our patients, who will once again have the convenience of dialysis closer to home.

"I would like to thank the estates team at the Horton for their help and am grateful for the flexibility of the dialysis nurses from both Oxford and the network units, many of whom have contributed by working additional shifts or travelling to other units – without them this could not have happened."

The move was supported on social networking site Facebook, Sandra Bessford said "not before time" while Julie Stephenson called it "brilliant news".

The dialysis centre opened at the hospital in 2012 after pressure from Banbury resident Miranda Berry, who highlighted the problems her husband Steven faced travelling to Oxford three times a week for dialysis.

Kirsty's in The House (of Commons)

IT'S not every day you are invited to the House of Commons for a special awards night.

But that's exactly what happened to 18-year-old Kirsty Newman from Chipping Norton, who was one of a group of students from across the country invited to attend the Association of Colleges (AoC) Gold Awards, which celebrate the achievements of college alumni.

The former Abingdon and Witney College student has been on quite a winning streak, after she was highly commended by the AoC and was previously nominated Student of the Year by her college. Kirsty said: "It was a great pleasure to have the opportunity to celebrate the success that I've had with college.

"This process and achievement is something I may not have the opportunity to do again and I am so grateful to have experienced this."

Kirsty, who is now studying for a degree in primary education at Oxford Brookes University, was joined at the glitzy occasion by her father David, along with Abingdon & Witney College principal Di Batchelor.

Ms Batchelor said: "[Kirsty] is a shining example of how far you can go with passion and dedication for a career that you care about."

Day centres under threat as charity fights isolation

Six clubs to close at 'worrying and upsetting' time

By George Welch

ELDERLY day centres face a 'worrying and upsetting' future as crippling financial pressures continue to threaten service provision.

Age UK Oxfordshire is preparing to shut six of its remaining eight centres at the end of March, despite being awarded £125,000 from the county council in the latest round of grant funding this week.

The six clubs impacted are in Burford, Faringdon, Henley, Hinton Waldrist, Kidlington and Hollow Way in Oxford. Clubs in Holton and Nettlebed will continue to operate as usual.

The proposals will affect 95 older people who attend the six clubs.

Chief executive Penny Thewlis said she was aware it was a "worrying and upsetting" time for club members and staff.

She added: "The charity is making a commitment to work with every individual affected to identify alternative options for them to ensure that people do not lose the friendship and support they value.

Age UK Oxfordshire chief executive Penny Thewlis

"We take our responsibility to combat loneliness and isolation very seriously and we are determined that these changes will not undermine our efforts to address these issues, but will help us to reach more older people."

Age UK wanted to maintain its eight centres by increasing the number of older people attending each session – but this didn't happen, causing the potential six closures and a refocus on more 'local activities tailored to the individual's needs and interests'.

This means the charity, which is consulting with staff and older people and their families about the proposals, is planning to focus more on running day classes, workshops, coffee mornings and lunch clubs.

A further four independent centres have closed since Oxfordshire County Council's permanent funding cuts of £3.14million in August.

The council has stressed that, of the 200 day centre services running last August, more than 190 will still be running this spring.

The authority awarded more than £400,000 in transition funding to 26 organisations on Tuesday.

Transition funding is money towards making services more selfsustainable.

"We take our responsibility to combat loneliness and isolation very seriously and we are determined that these changes will not undermine our efforts"

Groups to receive £15k boost

Families helped by investment in play centres

By Owen Hughes

YOUNG families in Oxfordshire could benefit from a £15,000 council investment in children's services over the next two years.

Among those set to receive a proportion of Oxfordshire County Council's £1million transition fund grant is Cholsey-based Happy Hub, which will receive £3,381 over two years.

The panel which approved the decision wrote that the bid "represented good value for money" and demonstrated "inclusivity".

The family centre already runs sessions six days a week and will use the investment to help fund an extra session for expectant and new parents in the Cholsey Meadows area.

Liz Lee, team leader at Happy Hub, said: "We specifically wanted to target new mums who have perhaps been working up until now and have been a bit isolated, making that change from work to family life."

The majority of Happy Hub's funding comes via Cholsey Parish Council, who Liz said are "very active in supporting the whole of the community".

Thomas Gifford Trust in Charlbury and Sutton Courtenay Stay and Play Group were also awarded a share of the grants.

Ann White, a volunteer at the community-led Sutton Courtenay group, said the £939 it will receive over a two-year period will be spent on new equipment and reduce the fee for families using its weekly sessions.

The Stay and Play Group was founded by six parents in November last year after council cuts forced south Abingdon Children's Centre to stop serving the village in December 2016.

Thomas Gifford Trust initially applied for a grant of almost £13,000 but the council opted to give the service a reduced budget of £10,769 as it considered costs for room hire were "not justifiable".

The Charlbury Community Centre, built by the Trust in 2017, will host a number of activities focussed on parents and children under five Banbury & District Community Bus Project's bid for funds were deferred until the next round of applications, while Oxford Baby Café's bid was declined as the council considered it "to be outside the remit of the grant criteria".

Road closed after burst water pipe

A STREET in Oxford city centre was closed after a mysterious hole appeared in the middle of the road.

Oxfordshire fire and rescue said they were contacted on Tuesday at about 8.30am regarding a hole on Broad Street near the Sheldonian.

Picture: Samantha van der Slott

The road was closed and an inspection carried out.

The incident was found to be a burst on an eight-inch water main but there was no impact on water supply to the area.

On Tuesday afternoon, a spokesperson for Thames Water said: "We will investigate if the burst pipe caused the ground to collapse or vice versa while we carry out the repair."

Thames Water added that the supply did have to be temporarily shut off in the evening but with minimal impact to customers.

They apologised for having to close Broad Street and expected to have the work finished by Wednesday afternoon as we went to press.

Drug gang members jailed

By George Welch

MEMBERS of a drug gang operating between county lines, including in Oxfordshire, have been convicted after a major police crack down on serious organised crime.

Marlon Thompson, 22, was believed to be the linchpin of a drugs line called Gucci which moved drugs to and from the capital.

Police believe three others – Karim Oram, Rebecca Black and Ebenezer Fadehan – were drug runners working for Thompson.

Thompson, Oram, 20, and Fadehan, 22, are all from London while Black, 44, is from Medhurst Way in Oxford.

Black has pleaded guilty to possession with intent to supply cocaine and possession with intent to supply heroin and will be sentenced at a later date.

Thompson was sentenced to five years behind bars after pleading guilty to conspiracy to supply cocaine and conspiracy to supply heroin. He received five years for both offences, to run concurrently.

Oram pleaded guilty to conspiracy to supply cocaine and was sentenced to three years and four months at Oxford Crown Court on January 15, the same day as Thompson.

The following day Fadehan was sentenced to 18 months suspended for 12 months, as well as carrying out 200 hours unpaid work, at the same court after pleading guilty to possession with intent to supply cocaine.

All four were arrested on January 24 last year after sweeping raids in Oxford, Abingdon and London, resulting in the arrests of 22 people.

The raids were carried out as part of Thames Valley Police's Stronghold campaign. Investigating officer, Detective Constable Darren Miles of TVP's Serious and Organised Crime Unit said: "I would hope that the sentences passed will be a deterrent to any persons involved or tempted to become involved in dealing drugs.

"Thames Valley Police is committed to tackling drugs particularly in relation to county drugs lines and our Stronghold campaign will continue to work in partnership in order to tackle those who see fit to deal drugs in our communities."

Evacuation after propane leak

HOUSES were evacuated as a huge tank of propane gas started leaking after two tree trunks smashed into it.

Fire and rescue teams also had to close a busy main road during rush hour following a report of gas leaking from a storage vessel at a property outside Bicester on Thursday last week.

Crews attending found two large tree trunks that had fallen in the high winds, coming to rest partially on top of a domestic gas storage vessel and partially on top of an external property. Damage to the valve assembly on the top of the vessel was causing the gas to leak.

Crews put up a safety cordon and a small number of residents were asked to evacuate in case there was any source of ignition.

Specialist heavy lifting equipment was used to raise the main trunk allowing engineers to stem the gas leak and crews to limit the risk to the surrounding roads.

The damaged storage vessel was then safely emptied and removed from the site by gas engineers before the area was declared safe.

Investigation into death of kites and buzzard in village

A POLICE investigation has been launched after five red kites, a raven and a buzzard were found dead in a south Oxfordshire village.

A family discovered the birds in September near the village of Pyrton, on the edge of the Chilterns, and reported them to the RSPB.

All the birds were recovered and X-rayed by a vet. The X-rays revealed no signs of shot.

However, the birds have been sent off for toxicology testing by Natural England as part of the Wildlife Incident Investigation Scheme (WIIS), to test for poisoning.

All birds of prey and ravens are protected by UK law, making it illegal to kill or harm them. Those found to have done so could face six months in iail or an unlimited fine.

Thames Valley Police, Natural England and RSPB are working together on a joint investigation and are appealing for information. Call police on 101 if you can help.

With their six-foot wingspan, red kites are Britain's third-largest bird of prey and feed mainly on carrion.

If you find a wild bird which you suspect has been illegally killed, contact RSPB Investigations on 01767 680551, email crime@rspb.org.uk or fill in the online form: https://www.rspb.org.uk/our-work/our-positions-and-campaigns/positions/wildbirdslaw/reportform.aspx

Hall could be yours for £8.25m

A grade-II listed 'gem of a property' at the gateway of the Cotswolds is now on the market for a cool £8.25 million.

Eynsham Hall, a 135-bedroom country house hotel and wedding venue, could be snapped up by overseas investors according to agents Christie & Co.

The building is being sold by current owner Richard Upton, co-founder of property firm Cathedral Group PLC, who has invested more than £3million in an extensive refurbishment program which includes 'luxury' bedrooms.

The property in Witney also includes a range of conference and meeting rooms as well as leisure facilities including a swimming pool, sauna, tennis court and fitness studios.

Planning consent has also been granted for a significant development to add 80 guest bedrooms, purposebuilt conference facilities with capacity of 250, as well as a new spa and swimming pool complex with direct access to the main Hall.

Don't text and drive warning

FAMILIES who lost loved ones are urging people to be aware of the devastation that using a mobile phone while driving can cause.

Thames Valley and Hampshire's Joint Roads Policing Unit carried out the week-long campaign with the aim of drawing attention to the risks of being distracted.

The two forces warn drivers are four times more likely to crash if they are using a mobile phone while driving, and twice as likely to be involved in a fatal collision texting as you are drink drinking.

Road Safety Sergeant Chris Appleby said: "A moments inattention can be the difference between life and death. It's not worth the risk."

This comes as the families of two people who were killed on the M271 near Southampton made a plea for those who continue to text, surf the web, use apps and more, behind the wheel to stop.

Ion Calin and his friend and work colleague Marian Olteanu were killed instantly when a lorry ploughed into their stationary car in December 2015.

The lorry driver was distracted, using his mobile phone.

Mum's five-day Kenya challenge

By Eva Astreinidou

AN Oxfordshire woman with a passion for rhinos will be running 140 miles over five days in honour of her favourite animal.

Liz Winton, from Watlington, will travel to Kenya in August to take on an epic ultra marathon through wildlife ranges for the charity Save the Rhino.

The mum-of-three is aiming to run just over 28 miles every day with 60 other runners in soaring heat while carrying equipment weighing up to 12kg.

Speaking about the challenge that kicks off on August 1, she said: "I am a bit of a softie when it comes to animals in general.

"I signed up to run the London Marathon for them when I didn't get a place in the ballot.

"The more I read about them, the more I love them. The poaching is disgusting and the charity could use all the help they can get."

She added: "Being able to get up every morning and do 30 miles per day will be tough.

"I love running and the animals en route and the camaraderie between all the runners will help."

The keen runner has completed 10 marathons and one 13-hour ultramarathon before, raising a total of £12,000 for what she says is her charity 'for life'.

She has even taken on the London Marathon dressed in a rhino costume.

She said: "The charity educates people on poaching and if we can help local communities to become rangers and get decent salaries for it, then all the better. The rangers do such amazing work."

The runners will have rangers travelling alongside them, she said, adding: "We have been told to speak to the rangers, and make sure we know what to do if we get into a dangerous situation.

She jokingly added: "I think we will be ok-I mean I don't want to be eaten by a lion or anything."

Poaching still continues in many countries in Africa and Kenya has passed new legislation that can mean life sentences for convicted poachers.

Rhino horns now fetch more countries such as China and Vietnam providing a ready demand for the poachers, where it is often used in 'medicines' or given as a gift.

Change in law is music to ears of campaigners

By Owen Hughes

AN Oxford MP who fought to save an iconic city centre nightclub is "delighted" parliament has backed a change in planning law to help protect music venues.

The change announced on Thursday last week requires developers to take account of any new schemes on preexisting businesses such as music venues before proceeding with their plans.

Housing Secretary Sajid Javid, said that he has "always thought it unfair that the burden is on long-standing music venues" and was pleased to "have an opportunity to right this wrong".

Layla Moran, Liberal Democrat MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, supported the introduction of the 'agent of change' principle into the planning process after raising the case of Oxford's underground club The Cellar.

She said: "I am delighted that the Government have agreed to this change in the law that will give extra protections to much-loved music venues from threats from future developments.

"It follows a long, cross-party

Campaigners in Westminster supported the 'agent of change' bill backed by Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran campaign in Parliament and huge support from bodies like UK Music and the Music Venue Trust.

"I'll be doing all I can in Parliament to see what more we can do to offer protections for grassroots music venues in the planning system."

Ms Moran agreed to co-sponsor legislation in the House of Commons on the issue earlier this month after being contacted by scores of residents worried about the threatened closure of The Cellar last year. "In our case, The Cellar was under threat from being turned into storage or shopping space rather than new housing, so I want to see flexibility in these new planning rules to make sure all music venues have proper protection in our planning law," she said

The Cellar's venue manager Tim Hopkins told this paper earlier this month that the support he received from local MPs was "incredible" and "we fully support this bill".

Dodd was arrested on October 10 last year after attempting to incite a child to engage in sexual activity, not realising he was speaking to a vigilante group posing as a child.

Detective Constable Alice Ashby welcomed the outcome, saying: "Dodd poses a danger to young girls and I am pleased he will serve time in prison for his crimes."

She added: "The count of inciting a child to engage in penetrative sexual activity was a non-recent offence from 2011. As a result of Dodd's arrest being made public the victim came forward to report this offence to the police."

Garden shop cycle-athon peddles cash for charity

AN 8ft wicker reindeer might not be everyone's ideal house guest but one raffle prize winner was delighted to welcome him.

Bruce Phillips of Woodstock won the seasonal sculpture as part of a garden shop's fundraising activities.

Friends and visitors were challenged to ride exercise bikes at the family-run Bunkers Hill Nursery throughout December to drum up the 2,800 miles it would take to get Santa to the North Pole.

Their efforts at the Kidlington store gathered an impressive £5,700 for Oxfordshire Mind and Restore in memory of 23-year-old Jack Leaning, who took his own life in March last year.

Andrew Leaning, Jack's father and co-owner of Bunkers Hill Garden Shop, said: "Our family are delighted with the amount raised which will help others who suffer from illness to get the care they deserve.

"Just as importantly, this challenge was to raise awareness of mental illness and for friends and customers to come together to cycle and share their own experiences.

"We are so grateful for the love and kindness that was shared by all those who took part."

The challenge raised around £2 for every mile cycled, with volunteer peddler and tattoo artist Craig Measures notching up a total of 65 miles for the campaign.

Garage knocked down to build M&S food store

DIGGERS have moved in as dismantling work at a former petrol station in Botley got under way last week.

The buildings and forecourt of the former BP Garage at the Seacourt Tower Retail Park will be torn down to make way for a Marks & Spencer food store and Costa Coffee.

The garage, which has served the community since the late 1980s, was closed in September, three months before Vale of White Horse District Council's planning committee approved plans for the new shops.

Its closure is part of the second phase of the project to redevelop the retail park.

North Hinksey Parish Council objected to the plan over fears the stores could be a threat to new businesses in the £100million West Way shopping redevelopment, which is now 20 months behind schedule.

Motorists now face pricey detours to fill up, with the nearest petrol station four miles away at Sainsbury's Heyford Hill store on the bypass.

A note put up on the BP garage door in August said: "We would like to take this opportunity to thank all our customers for their loyal support over the years."

Opening dates for Marks & Spencer and Costa Coffee are yet to be confirmed.

Minister to visit before decision on link route

By Eva Astreinidou

HUNDREDS of homes could be bulldozed to make way for the £3.5billion Oxford-Cambridge expressway route.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Layla Moran MP discussed her concerns over the plans and invited the Government's transport minister to visit Botley to speak to residents.

Transport Minister Jesse Norman has agreed to the visit, before a decision is made about which route to approve for the road, estimated to cost £3.5billion.

After the Commons discussion, the Oxford West and Abingdon MP said: "Local people are, understandably, deeply concerned about this proposal to bulldoze Botley to make way for a new road. "The National Infrastructure
Commission, Highways
England and the Government's Department for Transport are

"It is vitally important that before any decisions or recommendations are made about which route to go for, they all know the full impact that the route through Botley would have.

"I look forward to welcoming the minister to our area to make sure he is fully aware of our concerns and the fact that – along with local people – I'll be fighting any plan to demolish homes in Botley to the bitter end."

The MP is not the only one to oppose the plan – in April, the Oxfordshire branch of CPRE, the Campaign to Protect Rural England, said that the scheme would damage surrounding countryside

The Government's National Infrastructure Commission has said it is looking at three routes for the proposed new expressway.

The commission has said that an Oxford to Cambridge Expressway has the potential to transform the area, linking the individual cities into one joined up economy.

Potential benefits to the region include greater job opportunities, reduced journey times and fewer traffic hotspots elsewhere on the network.

A Department for Transport spokesman said the work is at an early stage.

They added that the processes for designing roads include several opportunities for people to make sure their views heard – and this includes before any decision is made about the choice of route.

Student reprimanded over Stephen Hawking stunt

AN Oxford University student has been reported to a college dean for mimicking Professor Stephen Hawking.

The student dressed as the world-famous physicist with a costume that included an office chair with wheels attached.

He wore the costume for the 'Dress as your degree' themed party at Lady Margaret Hall (LMH) over the weekend.

But he was reported to the college dean following the stunt.

An LMH spokesman said: "Our Dean will be speaking to the student to express the College's disappointment and to ask him to reflect on why his behaviour would be seen by many as offensive."

Oxford-born Professor Hawking started his studies at University College in 1959.

The 76-year-old physicist is paralysed from a slow progressing form of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS).

The Sleigh2Give appeal donated hundreds of presents from businesses

Fundraising

THE walls are decorated and jampacked with information and pictures of fundraising events.

Along the long corridor that accommodates the families' rooms there is a fundraising tree on the wall in recognition of those who have raised money.

Fundraising manager Caroline Sinclair said: "It's a source of inspiration for families who are staying here, especially if they're here for a long time and walk past it every day. They tend to go home and decide they want to get their child's name on the wall."

On the tree are the more common fundraising activities such as marathons, as well as some of the more unorthodox such as a ploughing match.

Among those to raise cash for the house is our charity of the year from last year, fundraising group Play2Give. Over the course of 10 years, the Didcot group helped raise £52,000 for the charity's fundraising appeal.

Last month lots of Christmas presents were donated by businesses, clubs and organisations, including P2G's Sleigh2Give Christmas toy appeal.

Fellow Didcot charity Secret Santa, run by 19-year-old Courtney Hughes, donated six sacksful of toys and presents for children to enjoy.

The current rooms are named after Oxfordshire locations, such as Ashmolean and Port Meadow, and the new rooms will be themed on Oxfordshire towns and villages as well as university colleges.

Approved by the city council in 2016, the charity said the new house will enable the facility to meet rising demand.

Building a house full of love for toughest times

Ronald McDonald House at Oxford Children's Hospital offers parents with youngsters in hospital the chance to be near them at difficult times. Work on a new larger centre is set to begin in the summer as George Welch found out

ON the top level of the children's hospital at the John Radcliffe there is a long corridor overflowing with compassion and kindness.

Love and a burning desire to provide ill children and their families with vital support has been running through Ronald McDonald House since it was built at the Headington hospital in 2007.

The centre provides free 'home away from home' accommodation for 17 families as their little'uns receive hospital treatment. It is run by Ronald McDonald House Charities, which operates 14 homes across the country.

The house - at full capacity almost all the time - is set for a much-needed expansion, with work on a new 62-room home to begin in the summer.

Expected to cost around £13million, it will be located in grounds currently occupied by tennis courts, adjacent to Woodlands Road, and take a year to build.

Deputy house manager Janet Price, who began working there as a housekeeper 10 years ago, can barely contain her excitement for the new facility to open. "I can't wait to move over to the new house. I think it's been on the cards since the house opened in 2007. It was highlighted then that we need more rooms. It feels so unreal things will be happening this year.

"It will just be nice to have space and be able to do more with the families."

Full capacity

RONALD McDonald House cares for around 600 families per year and the charity requires generous donations from individuals and organisations to meet the yearly £290,000 running costs.

The average stay for a family is nine or 10 days, with the longest visit being 15 months when a new born baby battled multiple medical issues.

The house is at capacity '99.9 per cent of the time' and on average has a waiting list of 10-15 families, meaning staff have to prioritise.

When we paid a visit to the house last week there were six families on the waiting list and, earlier in the week, there were 12 - but daily waiting lists will be a thing of the past when the charity moves into its new home.

For the families who are turned away, they are forced to sleep in cars or on hospital benches. In a particularly cold snap in November, staff allowed a young couple sleeping in their car, having to turn the engine on to stay warm, to kip on the sofa, even though they're not supposed to.

It is hard work for the small team of Janet and two house assistants (recruitment is under way to add another three staff members), but the team is expected to expand to more than a dozen after relocation.

Assistant Mark Roach, stayed in the house to look after his daughter who had medical complications nine years ago. The dad from Milton Keynes has now worked there for eight years.

A WANTAGE couple staying at Ronald McDonald House for a second time praised the accommodation for helping them be close to their 14-month-old son as he underwent major surgery.

Tymek had surgery for bicoronal craniosynostosis when the skull does not form properly causing the head to become an abnormal shape - in December but is back in hospital after suffering complications over the past couple of weeks.

Dad Wayne and mum Magdalena are being supported by the house for a second time in as many months. Magdalena said the main benefit was that one of them could be with Tymek all the time.

She said: "We're really grateful that we could stay in one of the rooms in the difficult time while our little boy had his operation.

"It was a very stressful and tiring time for us and being able to be together helped us to be strong for our boy - one

"It's nice to think that when I go home at the end of the day that, although I haven't been able to help everybody, I've done my best to help families that need help.

"Even if a family can't have a room I've invited them in for a meal, a cup of tea or to watch some television."

Fundraising manager Caroline Sinclair added: "Our team will always try and help as much as we can. I might have a really rotten day but then there will be a mum [at the house] who says their little one's getting better and that makes you think 'that's why we're here'."

Job satisfaction

THE new Oxford house, which will have more than three times as many rooms as at present, will be one of the biggest in the UK when it is built, alleviating many of the pressures on resources and staff.

And while it is heartbreaking for staff to turn families in need away, their passion for providing invaluable care for those they can support means kindness along the Ronald McDonald

Riding to box office records

A STAGE production of the internationally-acclaimed War Horse had Oxford chomping at the bit as it broke box office records recently.

The National Theatre's awardwinning production of a boy and his horse during the First World War smashed records to become the biggest selling show ever at the New Theatre Oxford during its run between December 13 and January 6.

Lee Duffy, general manager of the New Theatre Oxford, said: "A total of 47,000 people came to see the show and we had a 92 per cent occupancy. "We were thrilled in 2016 when we heard that War Horse would be coming to Oxford for Christmas 2017, and there was a real excitement around the show from the moment it was announced.

"The reaction to the production while it was here was overwhelming.

"Audiences loved seeing Joey and the rest of the cast here in Oxford, and we have received some fantastic feedback."

Jersey Boys, the true story of Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons, will be the theatre's Christmas show this year.

Days left to choose a charity for us

By George Welch

TIME is running out to submit nominations for the Oxfordshire Guardian and The Oxford Paper's Charity of the Year 2018.

Launched earlier this month, our appeal is welcoming recommendations from you, the readers, and our partners for an inspiring charity we should back for the year.

The deadline is in six days' time, on Wednesday, January 31.

We have received a fantastic response so far, with a plethora of worthy causes nominated already.

We are looking to publicise the work of a charity through the production of engaging material for our readers to be featured on at least a monthly basis.

Choices can be based on anything; from personal experiences or friends' experiences, to liking the sound of the work they do or relevance to current issues across the county.

Group editor Karen Neville said:
"We have already received a wide variety of entries from many different charities – some known and some that will be not so familiar to people, but we have been impressed by the level of response.

"There are so many worthy causes and our readers are clearly showing how much they care about their chosen cause.

"So if you would like a charity to be helped by us get your nomination in." THE OXFORD PAPER

Guardian

Charity of the year 2018

People submitting nominations are reminded that we are offering free publicity through the papers for the winning charity to help raise their profile and that no financial aid is given.

Last year we supported Didcotbased Play2Give with its fundraising for the Oxford's Children's Hospital and Headway. Founder Andy Baker said: "The partnership with the paper was for us hugely beneficial. It raised awareness for us even more and brought us to the eyes of people who hadn't heard of Play2Give, for which we were incredibly grateful."

To nominate a charity, email us at news@oxfordshireguardian.co.uk, putting Charity 2018 in the subject line with a brief reason for why you are nominating them.

The winner will be revealed next month but whether your cause is our chosen one to support or not each one will be featured in a separate article over the coming months ensuring that all receive some publicity for their work.

Mental health help

SMALL changes to people's lifestyles can improve mental wellbeing.

That is the message that public health experts from Oxfordshire County Council and mental health charity MIND want to get across through a tea and talk day on February 1 at 2pm.

The event at the library in Westgate is aimed at connecting people and promoting discussion about mental wellbeing.

A case study video focusing on five steps to wellbeing will be shown.

This is part of a wider series of talks and discussions to be held across each of the county's 14 libraries.

Rail services are a class apart

Only Chiltern praised as passengers rate southern operators

By Owen Hughes

OXFORDSHIRE and southern train services are lagging behind their northern counterparts according to a recent survey.

Research conducted by consumer group Which? found that most train services in the southern region rank rock bottom of the satisfaction list, with only Chiltern Railways bucking the trend in the survey asked both leisure travellers and commuters to rate the train companies.

Great Western Railway received a customer score of 42% in the survey of commuters, ranking 16th out of 21 services, faring only slightly better with a score of 51% from leisure rail users, placing it 18th of 23 services.

Southern (21%), South Eastern

(31%), Thameslink and Great Northern (32%), Greater Anglia (35%) and South West Trains (35%) were the only services ranked below Great Western by commuters.

Chiltern Railways, which serves Bicester Village and Oxford branch lines, featured in the top five of both categories receiving a score of 62% from commuters and 68% from leisure

Merseyrail, which operates in and around Liverpool, topped both lists scoring more than 70%.

Travellers rated the services by reported punctuality, reliability, seat availability, standing space, frequency and value for money.

More than 8,200 passengers travelling with UK operators took part in the survey between October and November last year.

Bassist leaves after 12 years

INDIE rock band Foals have announced their long-time bassist Walter Gervers is leaving the band after 12 years.

The Oxford-based band broke the news in a handwritten note posted on their official social media channels.

The statement said their "mate" Walter was leaving the line-up to "pursue a new life".

It added: "The parting has been so sad but we remain firm friends, he'll always be our brother, we love him and wish him well in his future endeavours.

"We had 12 amazing years touring together from a small postal van to the Pyramid Stage [at Glastonbury] and beyond.

"It's the end of a chapter but not the end of the book.

"We want to thank him for all his time and energy and passion and we want to thank you for all your support from the early days and into the future."

Foals, formed 13 years ago, were named Best Act in the World at the Q Awards in 2012.

The five-piece shot to fame after playing gigs in Oxford, at venues such as the Cellar, which was recently saved from closure.

In their statement, the band, headed by lead singer Yannis Philippakis, also confirmed they are working on new music: "We are making new music and are working on the 5th LP it's gonna be the best yet. Keep those ears alive." [sic]

Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) on 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids). The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression.

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health.

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids.

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 - ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear.

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system. The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems.

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing aids, no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve the best results.

Dancing into the swinging 60s

By Samantha McGregor

UNIVERSITY of Oxford student theatre company Halfwit Theatre is gearing up to bring its latest production to the Playhouse stage.

From Wednesday, January 31, to Saturday, February 3, Halfwit Theatre will perform the classic musical Sweet Charity.

Set in the glamorous world of New York in the swinging sixties, meet the gullible and guileless dance hostess Charity Hope Valentine.

Dazzled by the bright lights of the Big Apple, and always giving her heart away to the wrong man, the quirky, eternally optimistic Charity must learn to find strength and happiness within herself.

Could shy tax accountant Oscar Lindquist be Mr Right, or is he just like the rest?

Packed with iconic musical numbers including Big Spender, If My Friends Could See Me Now and The Rhythm of Life, the audience will witness the company dance up a storm with Bob Fosse inspired choreography.

This production marks 30 years since the death of the legendary Fosse, who also directed the Broadway production.

Halfwit members pay their homage to the late director, pulling out all the stops, whisking audiences from Central Park to dance clubs and hippie churches "with its bold and vivacious choreography".

The musical premiered on Broadway in 1966, and was nominated for nine Tony Awards - winning Best Direction of a Musical and Best Choreography.

The show also ran in London's

West End and has had a string of revivals over the past 40 plus years.

Three years after its original stage premiere, in 1969, Sweet Charity was adapted for screen, starring Shirley MacLaine as Charity, while John McMartin recreated his Broadway role as Oscar Lindquist. Fosse also directed and choreographed the movie.

Tickets for Sweet Charity at Oxford Playhouse start at £10 and are available by calling 01865 305305 or online at oxfordplayhouse.com

The show is suitable for aged eight and over.

Hitting the last notes

Two Blokes and a Piano, also known as James Mitchell and Grahame O'Connor, have announced they are hanging up their vocal chords after 15 years.

They will perform a farewell concert at Grove Village Hall, Main Street, on Saturday, February 24, at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost £8.50 and are available from Vale and Downland Museum on 01235 771447 or Brett's Chemists, in Grove, on 01235 763941.

Artist's barricades

Modern Art Oxford presents two major solo shows by Brazilian artist Cinthia Marcelle.

The Family in Disorder: Truth or Dare, draws out relationships between the education culture of Oxford and the activism of secondary school students in Brazil through barricades representing order and chaos.

It runs from March 10 until May 27.

National treasure's dream of stardom

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW musical based on the early life of singer and television personality Cilla Black is coming to Oxford next month.

Cilla – The Musical, a stage adaptation of the popular ITV mini-series by BAFTA award winner, Jeff Pope, comes to the New Theatre from Tuesday, February 13 until Saturday, February 17.

Kara Lily Hayworth plays the title role, while Andrew Lancel, of Coronation Street and Bad Girls, is Brian Epstein, and Carl Au plays Bobby.

Kara queued for four hours at London's Dominion Theatre to audition in the first rounds.

She made it through to the final 30 and did her final audition at Liverpool's Cavern Club.

Cilla's son Robert Willis, executive producer, said: "We wanted somebody who wasn't going to impersonate my mum but someone who could capture her spirit.

"Kara came in with her huge personality and amazing voice – when I saw the response of the audience at the Cavern, I knew we'd found her."

Kara said: "When I was 11 I was shopping with my mum and bumped into Cilla and asked her for an autograph.

"I told her I wanted to be an actress – she laughed and said 'It's a tough industry, but if you really work hard and go for it, you'll be just fine.'

"She was a huge inspiration to me as a child; I grew up watching her on Blind Date every Saturday night with my nan.

"To be chosen to play her is such an honour and I'm so excited to take on the role."

Cilla The Musical tells the story of an ordinary girl from Liverpool whose teenage dream of stardom led her to become one of Britain's best-loved entertainers of all time.

It was an introduction by a young

John Lennon to music mogul Brian Epstein that changed Priscilla White's life forever.

By the age of just 25 she would be known as number-one selling singer and TV Star Cilla Black.

Moshing on menu for The Night Café

TONIGHT Liverpool band The Night Café make a welcome return to Oxford when they perform at The Bullingdon.

Josh Higgins, Sean Martin, Carl Dillon and Arran O'Connell formed the band about four years ago and were initially called Bunkbed.

Fast forward to 2018 and The Night Café will be playing tracks from their new EP, due to be released soon.

Ahead of the gig Carl took time out to talk about their music and the upcoming tour.

He said: "We started off doing indie/pop songs, but we like to make whatever we can and not worry about what genre it falls into.

"It's going toward a darker edge now, a lot has happened in the last year for all of us, and it's definitely reflected in our newer material.

"The new EP is darker toned, we wanted it to have a lot of influences we've taken from the 90s style of music.

"There's lots of thrashy/grungier parts in the new EP and there is bits of Shoegazing in there too. It's a new style combined with everything we've done so far."

Looking forward to tonight's gig, Carl warned fans to expect "A lot of moshing ahaha, and to have a good time even if you aren't a mosher."

He said: "The last show we did was sold out in The Cellar and it was sick. We're excited for this gig."

Sad songs well worth a listen Take a glamorous turn

By Samantha McGregor

A VENUE that's not usually associated with live music is set to open its doors to The Sad Song Co next month.

The Sad Song Co, also known as Nigel Powell, a drummer with Frank Turner And The Sleeping Souls band, will perform at The Museum of Modern Art, Oxford on Saturday, February 17.

Tracks from new album Worth will get their first live performance as part of a countrywide tour.

Worth, which features guest spots from the likes of Frank Turner, Chris TT and Billy The Kid, with production contributions from Radiohead engineer Graeme Stewart and Grammy-winning Chris Kasych, is out on February 9.

Nigel, who also worked with Unbelievable Truth and Dive Dive, brings his latest set of intricate, emotionally potent songs to UK venues for two weeks during February.

Shows feature only Nigel with occasional help from long-term collaborator Jason Moulster.

Nigel said: "It's always interesting playing live because while I love producing records, this strips things down and gets to the heart of the

"The new songs especially, have many layers and it's educational to peel them back and find what's driving it all underneath.

"It's also terrifying. I play hundreds of gigs every year as a drummer confident in my abilities - but put me up front and it's far more nerveracking."

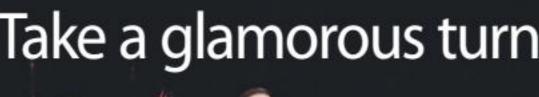

Personnel on the album include Jason Moulster, also of Unbelievable Truth on bass for four tracks, Ryan Robinson tackling the guitar solos Nigel wrote throughout the album, Chris T-T, who co-wrote the lyrics for The Body Beautiful and Lonely Is A State of Mind, Radiohead engineer Graeme Stewart looked after the recording again, this time for only one day at Woodworm Studios, and Kasych, who has worked with Adele, Bruce Springsteen and Neil Young, mixed, with the rest done by Nigel at

During his work with Dive Dive, the band headlined at Wembley Arena, and the O2 Arena in London and performed at the opening ceremony of the London 2012 Olympics.

Tickets cost £6.50 in advance or £7.50 on the door.

CELEBRATING a decade of dance Strictly Come Dancing favourites Anton Du Beke and Erin Boag are hitting the road with their new show.

Called Broadway to Hollywood, the production comes to Oxford's New Theatre on Sunday, February 4, at 3pm.

Broadway to Hollywood is an afternoon of dance, music and song with the nation's favourite ballroom couple and vocalist Lance Ellington, six world-class ensemble dancers and the 25-piece London Concert Orchestra, conducted by Richard Balcombe.

With sensational choreography, sparkling costumes and a musical score which includes classics Somewhere in Time, Cry Me a River, Mr Bojangles, Downtown, This Nearly Was Mine, New York, New York, Couple of Swells and Libertango.

The show will also feature a question and answer section, giving the audience a chance to interact with the dancers.

Anton said: "It's show time again! Erin and I are delighted to be back with a brand-new production.

"This will be our 10th tour so we really hope you will be able to join us in celebrating a decade of dance."

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

t's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quiet a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing - just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Gardeners' Questions

Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply want's to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Head into Winter - with COLOURFENCE The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientfically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up - it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free - you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be e_ ciently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hasslefree enjoyment.

Introducing our care worker, Patrick.

Patrick has been a care worker with Day and Nightcare Assistance for about two years. 'Before this,' he explains, 'I was looking for a change because I was in the food and catering business and I didn't always enjoy dealing with party-goers and people who'd had too much to drink. Then one day my partner suggested I think about working in social care. She said that because I was kind and liked to look after people and to do the right thing, it might be just right for me. And she was right!'

'You see, I like working with people and being there for them. I've always enjoyed meeting lots of different people in lots of different situations, talking to people from different walks of life and their families.'

'In this profession, the clients really look forward to my visits and I try to bring a smile to their day which they don't always have, and I help them in situations where they aren't able to help themselves. I just give them the support that I would want if I was in their situation and I enjoy being useful.'

'I work with quite a lot of different clients, and you do form attachments to them. The family of one gentleman who I had a real connection with said he'd ask for me in the morning because he enjoyed seeing me, and that felt good. It felt great making things right for him when I was there, and it felt great that his family were so grateful. We work as a team with a client's family if we can which helps me understand and communicate with the client as well as possible.'

'I've also spent lots of time with a lady who was often the last call of my day and so I could stop a little longer with her. She may have been pretty elderly but she was cheeky and had a real twinkle in her eye - we'd have a laugh and she said I made her feel young again! And sometimes I visit someone on their own who is having a bad day for some reason and me being there makes them feel alright again. That's a real achievement!'

Are you interested in becoming a care-worker, either part-time, full-time or even to live-in, helping older people to stay living comfortably at home?

We're expanding locally and have offices in Oxford, Banbury, Wantage and Witney so wherever you live, we'd love to hear from you.

You'll get

- Comprehensive training
- Flexible working hours to fit around your family or lifestyle
- The chance to gain a QCF Diploma in social care
- You'll even get paid for travelling between home visits because our new positions come with a guaranteed salary.

Just drop us a line at careers@danacare.co.uk, call us on 01865 715716, text CARER to 66777 or visit www.danacare.co.uk

Oxford Property Market and Hammond's Budget Promise to Build 300,000 more homes

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

I miss the good old days of George Osborne as Chancellor, with his hardhat and hi-vis jacket. He must have visited every new home building site in the UK with his trademark attire! For the last few years, the nearest Philip Hammond got to donning a 'Bob the Builder' outfit was at his grandchild's birthday party. However, with what appears to be a change in focus by the Tories, they appear to have fallen in love with house building again with the Chancellor's promise to create 300,000 new households in a year.

Nationally, the number of new homes created has topped 217,344 over the last year, the highest since the financial crash of 2007/8. Looking closer to home: in total there were 320 'net additional dwellings' in the last 12 months in the Oxford

City Council area, a respectable increase of 113% on the 2010 figure! Evidence of a prolonged period of under-investment.

The figures show that 66% of this additional housing was new build properties. In total, there were 211 new dwellings built over the last year in Oxford. In addition, there were 43 additional dwellings created from converting commercial or office buildings into residential property and a further 81 dwellings were added as a result of converting houses into flats.

While these all added to the total housing stock in the Oxford area, there were 15 demolitions to take into account.

I was encouraged to see some of the new households in the Oxford area had come from a change of use. The planning laws were changed a few years back so that, in certain circumstances, owners of properties didn't need planning permission to change office space in to residential use.

With the scarcity of building land available locally (or the builders being very slow to build on what they have, for fear of flooding the market), it was pleasing to see the number of developers that had redeveloped vacant office space into residential homes in the local council area. Converting offices and shops to residential use will be vital in helping to solve the Oxford housing crisis especially, as you can see on the graph, that the level of building has hardly been spectacular over the last seven years!

Now we have had the autumn budget, Theresa May and Philip Hammond have set out their stall with housing as their key focus, including more funding for the supply side and an injection of urgency into the planning system.

Net Additions

The biggest question is, just where are the Government going to build all these new houses? Whilst the apparent new focus on the housing market by the Government is good news for all homeowners and buy to let landlords, in the short term, demand still outstrips supply for owner-occupied and private rented homes and that will mean continued upward pressures on prices for buyers and on rents for tenants.

Mazda3 2.0 SKYACTIV-G I20PS Sport Nav

Make the right decision with 5-star car

By Tony Yates

WHEN you start looking around for a new car, you will probably spend around 10-20 hours of your life searching on the internet for all the reviews on what's hot to buy and what's not.

And it doesn't stop there either, as your friends will probably tell you that their car is the best ever and you should go out straight away and buy the same.

Well, I'm here to tell you that you need to ignore everything your friends tell you and probably what I tell you too. So, let me explain in simple terms why I believe this to be true.

You buy a car based on the look, feel and more importantly the cost. Of course, the salesman will tell you everything you want to know about the car in question, but none of that matters in the end.

What really does matter is how you feel when you sit inside for the first time. Only then will you know if you have made the right decision.

The End!

Power & efficiency

The Mazda3 comes with a range of engines available - which means you have a choice between both the165PS petrol engine and the120PS petrol engine (which was fitted to my test car). Both of these SKYACTIV-G petrol engines deliver excellent fuel economy and performance. Or, if diesel is your thing, then there is the equally impressive SKYACTIV-D diesel range available such as a 105PS or 150PS.

The 120PS petrol engine managed 55.4mpg on the combined cycle; whilst 0 to 62 arrived in around 8.9 sec. Flat out the Mazda3 will reach a top speed of 121 mph, plus a max torque figure of 210Nm. On the road, the engine feels willing and more than powerful enough to keep even the keenest driver happy. The 6-speed gearbox is also light and slick, which actually helps you progress quickly with minimal fuss.

On the road

I like the way the Mazda3 handles and also how well balanced it feels.

Plus, when the road gets twisty, it's more than capable of holding its own into the corners. The steering also feels light and agile – and you get enormous feedback from the front wheels as to what the road surface is doing underneath you. It's no exaggeration for me to say that I think the Mazda3 has a lot of manufacturers a little bit worried right about now.

Safety & technology

Some of the standard features on Price from: 21,245 (estimated OTR).

the Mazda3 Sport Nav include; 18" alloy wheels, Adaptive Front-lighting System, Premium Bose® Centerpoint® surround-sound system with nine speakers, digital speedometer, LED headlights with, LED daytime running lights, LED signature rear lights, Colour Active Driving Display, front parking sensors, reversing camera and smart keyless entry.

Plus; rain-sensing front wipers, dusk-sensing headlights, cruise control, adjustable speed limiter, integrated navigation system with 3-years free European map updates and advanced Smart City Brake Support.

To be honest, there is so much on offer with the Mazda3, that it's hard to find any faults at all. Which is probably why I didn't find any.

To Sum Up

Overall the Mazda3 offers an engaging drive with its responsive and economical engine, excellent handling, and impressive ride quality. A well-deserved 5-stars for Mazda.

Is there £5,000 just sitting in your garage?

We're taking older, less efficient cars off the road and making a new Hyundai even more affordable. Depending on the age, the emissions of your car and the new Hyundai you're after, you can trade it in and save up to £5,000. This offer includes a minimum £1,500 off the i10 – What Car? Best City Car 2017. With lots of useful features such as 7" Sat Nav, it's a neat way to save money on a great car and tidy up your garage at the same time.

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.

That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk.motoring

Sports awards

EDDIE Pepperell and Kirsty Miller were crowned king and queen of the county's sports scene after claiming top honours at Friday's Oxfordshire Sports Awards.

Golfer Pepperell and taekwon-do ace Miller secured the sportsman and sportswoman of the year accolades at the Kassam Stadium.

Pepperell, playing in a tournament in the Middle East at the time of the awards, took to Twitter to respond to his award.

He said: "Thank you. Sorry I couldn't be at the awards. Genuinely surprised to have won this. Maybe one day I'll win the national award."

Stars tame Wildcats to notch up another win

Ice Hockey

AS far as bitter derby day battles go, this one was rather tame.

Oxford City Stars nearly made double figures as the league leaders made exceptionally light work of arch rivals Swindon Wildcats 2 on Saturday.

Kenny Redmond's side didn't exactly have to put in the performance of the season as the title chasers eased to a 9-2 win in Wiltshire.

Theo Bundock (7 minutes) and Jake Florey (16) gave the away side a two-goal advantage in the first period – and the Stars refused to look back.

Michael Whillock made it 3-0 a minute after the restart before Swindon finally responded through Haydn Lee (32).

Any hopes of a Wildcats comeback were immediately dashed however as Joshua Oliver scored a minute later and Whillock (39) found the net for his brace and a 5-1 lead.

The Stars were embarrassing their hosts as Conor Redmond (44) and Kamil Kinkor (48) added their names to the scoresheet.

Florey also celebrated his brace on 53 minutes, 20 seconds before Adam Coakley pulled a goal back for Swindon.

But Oxford had the last say as Joe Edwards made it 9-2 less than a minute later.

The win put an extra two points between them and their closest rivals Bracknell Hornets, who were without a fixture.

That means the Stars remain top of South2, four points ahead of Bracknell having played three games more.

Oxford look to make it a hat-trick of wins when they host Chelmsford Chieftains at Oxpens Road on Sunday.

Golf

A DOUBLE bogey on the final hole cost Eddie Pepperell a four-day tournament at the Abu Dhabi HSBC Championship.

The Frilford Heath member, named as Oxfordshire's sportsman of the year on Friday, needed to card two-under par or better from the opening rounds to make the weekend in the United Arab Emirates.

Starting round two on the 10th tee, birdies on the 12th, 13th and second holes put Pepperell in an encouraging position on three-under par heading into the final six holes.

Double bogey costs Eddie in desert

Another birdie and two bogeys followed, leaving the Abingdon man on two-under par – enough to survive the cut – heading into the final hole.

However, Pepperell took six shots to sink the par four ninth.

It is the first time he has failed to make the third round of a tournament since October.

Fellow Englishman Tommy Fleetwood won carding 22-under par.

Pepperell tees off at the Dubai Desert Classic, also in the United Arab Emirates, from the 10th tee at 4.50am GMT time (8.50am local time) today.

City rocked by harsh scoreline

By George Welch

Oxford City

A SPIRITED second half performance was not enough for Oxford City as they fell to a 4-1 defeat away at East Thurrock United on Saturday, a result that was harsh on the visitors

City found themselves 2-0 down in a quarter of an hour as Calvin Ekpetita found the net from close range twice.

The Hoops rallied for the remainder of the half but were unable to reduce the arrears, Christian Oxlade-Chamberlain going closest for the away side.

Oxford were back in the game just after the hour when Zac McEachran found top scorer Matt Paterson, who cut across goal before powerfully curling into the far corner.

Substitute Ezra Forde wasted the match's defining moment 10 minutes later when, put through by Paterson, he failed to beat Lukas Lidakevicius in the Rocks goal.

Sam Higgins extinguished any hopes of a City comeback with an expertly taken 30-yard free kick on 86 minutes. The scoring was complete barely two minutes later when Montel Agyemang slotted under Craig King to complete City's misery.

"4-1 certainly flatters East Thurrock. It wasn't a true reflection of the game," Jones said.

"When you get off to a poor start like we did it's always going to be difficult for us.

"I said to the lads at half that, if we are going to lose, lets go down fighting on the front foot.

"To be fair I thought our attitudes were excellent. In the second half we were pushing and had some great moments and it was a great goal from Matt Paterson.

"Even John Coventry [East Thurrock manager] said 'you didn't deserve that'."

Jones added: "I'm not going to be too down on the boys. I was a lot more encouraged with the performance than I was against Whitehawk.

"If we continue with that type of attitude and togetherness we will be okay. We are very much together and the lads are working hard."

City, who slipped to 18th and have lost their last three matches, host Bath City at Court Place Farm on Saturday.

ON-FIRE Didcot Town are calling on the town to get behind their promotion bid

The Railwaymen produced another outstanding display to defeat fellow high-flyers Bristol Manor Farm 2-0 at the Loop Meadow on Saturday.

Goals from Sam Elkins and George Jeacock saw Diddy go fourth as Andy Ballard's men extended their unbeaten run to eight matches, a run that consists of four wins and six clean sheets.

The club has battled off-field difficulties over the last year as financial pressures threatened the south Oxfordshire side's future.

And despite Didcot's successful season attendances have not improved and the club are appealing to the town to get behind them.

More than 5,000 fans travelled to Tottenham's White Hart Lane to see their FA Vase triumph in 2005. A club record 2,707 watched Diddy take on Exeter City in an historic FA Cup first round tie in 2015.

Vice chairman Paul Chalk called on the community to get behind the promotion contenders.

He said: "We all remember the heady days of the FA Trophy final, well Town once again requires you to don the red and white and get behind your local team. Enthusiasm and support may just be the push we need."

The average attendance at the Loop Meadow is 135, with numbers decreasing consistently since 2009.

Press officer Joffy Chinnock said:

"The team are riding high and I call for residents to come out and support your local football.

"Andy and his management team have built a young side of local players who try to play some good attacking football which is a pleasure to watch."

Didcot travel to table-toppers Taunton Town on Saturday before their next home league game against Swindon Supermarine on February 2.

All five matches involving Kidlington, North Leigh and Thame United this week were postponed.

Saturday sees Kidlington (12th) travel to AFC Totton (5th), North Leigh (17th) visit Bideford (8th) while, in the East division, Thame (12th) host Aylesbury (18th) before another home game against Hartley Wintney (8th) on Tuesday.

Nash nabs contract extension

Banbury United

MIDFIELDER George Nash has signed a contract extension at Banbury United until May 2019.

The 25-year-old joined the Puritans in October 2015 from Worcester City, having previously played for Corsham Town, Loughborough University and Chippenham Park.

He has been a regular in the United side since joining the club and has made 128 appearances, scoring six goals.

Nash said extending his current deal was a "no brainer".

He said: "I had been speaking to the gaffer about it for a few weeks so it's good it's all done now.

"I love playing here, it's a great club and I'm really enjoying my football. I'm absolutely delighted." Back on the pitch and Banbury's league match at home to Basingstoke Town on Saturday was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch.

The fixture has been rearranged to February 6.

Nash said the postponement was frustrating but that the players had an hour and a half of training instead.

"Everyone has their pre-match routines psychologically and physically so it's disruptive when all that [the postponement] goes on," he added.

"I didn't realise how bad the pitch was until we got out there – it was definitely the right decision."

United will be hoping for better weather when they travel to thirdplaced Hereford on Saturday. They then travel to fellow north Oxfordshire side Easington Sports in the Oxfordshire Senior Cup on Tuesday.

Hellenic round-up

ABINGDON United boss Steve Alman insists there is a bright future ahead for his players, despite being hammered 5-0 at home to Bracknell Town on Saturday.

The Vale side caused one of the upsets of the season by beating runaway leaders Highworth Town 4-2 last Wednesday.

The remarkable result ended a four match winless streak – but they were back to losing ways at the weekend.

First half goals from TJ Bohane (17 minutes) and Seb Bowerman (35) gave the visitors a 2-0 lead at half time. Joe Gator (69), Bohane (75) and Joe Grant 85 added three more after the beak.

But Alman remained upbeat, pointing to the win over Highworth as evidence of what United can do.

He said: "The midweek win against the league leaders shows Abingdon can compete, but youthfulness will always demonstrate an inconsistency because they are learning and developing. There is no doubting, those players time, will come [sic]."

On Saturday Abingdon (14th) travel to Binfield (6th) and Wantage Town, whose game at Tuffley Rovers was postponed, host Highmoor Ibis (19th).

Oxford City Nomads were knocked out of the Bluefin Sport Challenge Cup after a 4-1 loss at Moreton Rangers on Saturday.

They are next in action when they host Ascot United on February 3.

Building up confidence key after Chelsea defeat

THERE will be no Wembley trip this year for managerless Oxford United, who were well beaten 3-0 by Chelsea's academy side in the Checkatrade Trophy quarter-final on Tuesday.

United were only two wins from returning to the home of football for the third successive year but the Chelsea youngsters - the first academy side to reach the semi-finals - were too good at Stamford Bridge.

The game was over almost as soon as it started as the Londoners raced to a 2-0 lead.

Harvey St Clair tapped home a rebound on nine minutes before Daishawn Redan's 15-yard effort seven minutes later helped the Blues swagger to a decisive lead.

Oxford opted for a change of system with Derek Fazackerly, in temporary charge 'until further notice', electing for a 5-3-2 formation, although it didn't have much of an impact until the second half.

The Yellows emerged from the changing rooms at half time with far more purpose, and Isaac Buckley-Ricketts went closest to halving the deficit.

The Manchester City loanee's 18-yarder hit Marcin Bulka's right-hand post, hit the goalkeeper on the back of the head and bounced clear.

Ryan Ledson and Josh Ruffels both flashed efforts at the Polish stopper's goal but the sucker punch was landed at the other end of the pitch just after the hour.

Juan Castillo put the game to bed when he evaded an Aaron Martin challenge to fire a classy, curling finish into the far corner from the edge of the area.

"We are disappointed with the result. We had periods of possession but we didn't work the goalkeeper enough," Faz said after taking control of the U's for the first time since Pep Clotet's sacking.

"We lacked competitiveness when we were defending. Collectively we have got to do better."

He added: "We will work to build up the confidence in the players and from there we will go into the next league game [at Charlton Athletic on February 3]."

Chelsea's kids, whose shirt numbers tallied up to 625 (compared to Oxford's 199), go into today's semi-final draw knowing they will face Lincoln City, Shrewsbury Town or the winners of Yeovil Town v Fleetwood Town.

U's left in a sticky situation after Bunn's match winner

CONCEDING two goals in the final 10 minutes proved too much for the Oxford United board, who sacked manager Pep Clotet after the U's surrendered a winning position to lose 2-1 at home to basement side Bury.

A James Henry goal looked to be sending United towards a third successive home win on Saturday, but subs George Miller and Harry Bunn had other ideas and turned the game around for the Shakers.

Henry converted full back Dwight Tiendalli's low cross at the far post on the stroke of half time after Peter Clarke had threatened at the other end, heading a Chris Maguire corner against the post.

The U's rarely looked like adding to the lead but looked reasonably comfortable defensively.

That was until Bury, who hadn't scored in 12 hours of football scored

Oxford United 1

James Henry 45

Bury 2

George Miller 81, Harry Munn 84 Attendance: 6,475 (191 away)

twice in three second half minutes.

Miller, who re-joined the Greater Manchester side on loan on Friday, began the fightback when he poked a flicked long throw into the back of the net on 81 minutes.

And the turnaround was complete moments later when fellow sub Bunn had collected a long ball and slotted past United stopper Simon Eastwood, ending Bury's eight match losing strook and putting Clotet out of a job

Raglan: 'We need to regroup after tough week'

OXFORD United defender Charlie Raglan is treating the 3-0 Cup defeat to Chelsea as a "learning curve" after making his first appearance of the season in Tuesday's defeat at Stamford Bridge.

The 24-year-old made his loan spell at the U's permanent in June last year but has been restricted by injuries since joining from Chesterfield.

Temporary manager Derek Fazackerley reverted to a back three for the away clash with Chelsea U21s in the Checkatrade Trophy, allowing Raglan to get on the pitch for the first time in six months.

Raglan said: "It was a nice game to come into, unfortunately the result doesn't reflect that, but for me personally I managed to play a football match and wear the yellow shirt again.

"Isaac [Buckley-Ricketts] hit the post, Josh Ruffels had a good shot that was saved, and they were our best opportunities as we really put the pressure on them.

"It was a difficult night, a difficult learning curve.

"We had a big change this week at the football club and we have to regroup quickly and concentrate now on getting ourselves right."

Raglan's next opportunity could come in nine days' time as Oxford return to league action against Charlton Athletic at the Valley.

Charlie Raglan made his first appearance against Chelsea

Roberts 'may have played last game for U's'

OXFORD United striker James Roberts will remain on loan at Guiseley until the end of the season.

The 21-year-old forward has scored three goals in five starts since joining the National League side in December and last week agreed an extension to the loan until May.

Roberts has scored in his last two appearances for the Lions, finding the back of the net in their defeats against Eastleigh and AFC Fylde.

With Roberts heading into the last few months of his contract at the Kassam, it could mean he's played his last game for the U's.

The most recent of his three substitute appearances for United this season came in the 1-0 win at Bristol Rovers in October.

While speculation over the future of goalkeeper Simon Eastwood has cooled, reports surfaced last week that the U's rebuffed a £1m bid from Championship side Preston North End for midfielder Ryan Ledson.

■ United's League One game at Wigan Athletic will be rearranged after Wigan progressed in the FA Cup last week.

That game will be played on the weekend of January 27, meaning United's trip to the DW Stadium, scheduled for that weekend, will be moved to a new, as yet unconfirmed, date.

Clotet sacked after pep talk fails to take U's up the table

By George Welch

WHEN Pep Clotet was appointed as Oxford United manager last summer chairman Darryl Eales exclaimed proudly that the U's were 'fortunate' to have landed the 'progressive' Spaniard.

But, as they say, football is a funny old game.

Clotet's tenure in the U's hot seat – best described as inconsistent – lasted only 205 days and 36 games, culminating with back-to-back defeats to strugglers Walsall and Bury.

The League One club announced the 40-year-old's sacking in a statement on Monday, two days after United threw away a 1-0 lead against rock bottom Bury in the final 10 minutes.

The club said the board took the decision 'in the best interests' of Oxford United, adding that it wants to maintain the side's promotion ambitions.

Although the wave of discontent against the Clotet regime picked up pace following several below par performances, his dismissal came as a surprise for many.

From the outside looking in, Oxford United sitting 10th in the third tier is no reason to pull the panic cord.

It could also be key to point out that United were 17th in League Two, three points above the relegation zone, at the same stage of Michael Appleton's first campaign.

But Eales used his programme notes earlier this month to announce a return to a previous recruitment strategy before Clotet arrived. Signs of disruption behind the scenes were already there.

stram, towering defender Chey Dunkley and top scorer Chris Maguire all departed – but his transfer record raised eyebrows. Utilising his foreign contacts, he looked abroad as he tried to scramble a team together.

But as time progressed it transpired that the new contingent of older and foreign players – eight of 11 permanent summer signings were 31 years old or older and/or brought in from abroad - were simply not up to the demands of League One football.

With Eales making a point of reversing transfer strategy, the context of Clotet's wheeling and dealing could have proven crucial – the average age of Clotet's summer signings was 28.7, compared to Appleton's 24.3 the previous year.

Some of the football played at the start of the season was breathtaking.

Top of the table in August and in the play-offs in October, things began glowingly.

But when United were bad, they were really bad and Clotet, who allegedly shushed fans on Saturday, will be remembered for a club record 7-0 home defeat to Wigan last month.

In the end what was perceived as a lack of progression cost the affable Spaniard his job.

No U's return for Appleton

FORMER Oxford manager Michael Appleton has moved quickly to rule himself out of a sensational return to the club where he spent three years.

Speaking on Sky Sports's The Debate show on Tuesday, the Leicester City assistant boss said: "I think I made it clear when I left Oxford eight months or so ago.

"I had been given the opportunity to work in the Premier League which is difficult to get these days as a young English coach.

"I had three fantastic years there, had great support from all the players I had with me at the time.

"The staff are fantastic, the fans were fantastic with me and I had a good relationship with the chairman and owner Darryl Eales. I am sure that will continue.

"Never say never in the future, but at this moment in time I am in a really good place."
